INTRODUCTION

The success of San Joaquin Delta College can be measured best by the success of the young men and women who enter the College and progress through its many programs. From the day the student enters the College until after he gains employment or transfers to another institution the faculty seeks to determine how effectively it is meeting the needs of those it serves.

The results of the College's efforts toward meeting the aspirations and objectives of the students may be measured in part by this report which has been prepared with the aid of the IBM 1620 Computer.

The tables on pages 1 to 13 show the relationships of the cumulative grade point averages earned by the students and the following criteria: stanines, English placement, high school of origin, occupational goal, semester in college, and sex. An analysis of the students who withdrew during the fall semester 1965-66 may be found on pages 12 to 26. The tabulated results of the freshman questionnaire for fall 1965 are presented on pages 27 to 75.

It is hoped that this follow-up research will provide suggestions for the improvement of course content and information for studying the reasonableness of grading practices. As a two-year institution Delta College is especially sensitive to the technological changes necessary to meet the needs of business and industry and at once satisfy the requirements of students with a broad range of interests, aspirations, and abilities.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This study was made possible by funds provided through Title V of the National Defense Education Act.

The study was conducted under the direction of Mrs. Naomi Fitch, Project Director. The full resources of the Student Personnel Department under the direction of Mr. Max Barber, Dean of Students; and the staff of the Registrar's Office, under the direction of Miss Helen Growe, helped immeasurably in supplying information for the study.

Mr. Wesley Steyer and Mr. James Shannon served as consultants for computer programming. Mrs. Margaret O'Connell provided the basic data used in the computer studies.

Research assistants included: Mrs. Barbara Baber, and Mr. David Shapiro.

PREFACE

IMPLICATIONS FOR ACTION AND FURTHER STUDY

Do students generally earn better grades in one major than in another? An effort to answer this question was made in the spring semester, 1966, by studying the cumulative grade point averages of 3,466 students at Delta College and by comparing these averages with the occupational goals of the students. The grade point averages included the grades for all subjects attempted by the students. Tabulated results of this study are shown on pages 1-5 of this report.

Two factors account in part for the apparent differences in grade point averages from one major to another -- the aptitudes of the students selecting the various majors and the number of students enrolled in each field. When a student changes his occupational goal any grade point deficiency from his former major is carried forward on his record, often placing him in "double jeopardy" for the poor grades earned in a major not suited to his abilities. A state-wide study of the policy of cumulating grade point averages and the effects of this policy on hundreds of students who enter transfer courses and later drop back to terminal courses after accumulating a grade point deficiency which cannot be overcome with average grades in a new major. Hundreds of students throughout California are dismissed each year not because they are doing unsatisfactory work in their present majors but because of the deficiencies earned in former majors which have not been balanced by "A's" and "B's" in their new majors. A student who earns "C's" in a new major should not be subject to dismissal for his previous record because "C's" do not balance lower grades in computing grade point averages.

Pages 6-8 show the performance of students by high school of origin. It appears from this study that students with a great distance to travel, requiring several hours of commuting each day, tend to earn lower grades than those who commute shorter distances. The number of students involved and the abilities of the students who come from the remote areas would be rival hypotheses to the assumption that there is a relationship between grades earned and distance from the college when this distance exceeds thirty miles.

In order to serve the students in the Sonora area, Modesto has purchased a site on a lake near Columbia. Plans are now underway for a satellite experimental college there. Perhaps Delta College could investigate the desirability of developing a site in Calaveras County in conjunction with the forestry program to serve the students in the mountain area. An alternate plan to this would be provision for dormitories to serve these students.

STANINES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

Verbal

The table presented on page 9 shows the verbal scores recorded for 3,455 students enrolled at Delta College in the fall semester of 1965. These scores are reported in nine stanines; each unit represents one-half a standard deviation; and the mean score is represented by 5. The table reveals that approximately 30 percent of the students ranking in the top three stanines on the verbal section of the SCAT entrance placement test earned unsatisfactory grades.

Further study of this academically talented group is needed to determine how many of these students persisted to the second semester; how many fell by the wayside; and how many were able to improve their unsatisfactory record in the spring semester. The table on page 9 also shows that approximately 40 percent of the students ranking in the middle range earned unsatisfactory grades. From 44-59 percent of the students ranking below mean score 5 on the same test earned unsatisfactory grades.

MEETING THE NEEDS OF THE STUDENTS

How effectively is the college meeting the needs of the students? Table 9 shows that many Delta College students at all levels of the scholastic aptitude scale earn unsatisfactory grades. Fifty percent of the students included in this table were freshmen. The transfer shock resulting from the transition from high school to college may account for some of the unsatisfactory grades.

ACTION NEEDED

A study of the successful students ranking in the lower stanines 1, 2, 3 and 4 may provide patterns for the 50 to 60 percent of the students who fail in this verbal aptitude range. Likewise, a study of the successful students in the high range 7-9 may furnish information which may help this group to higher levels of achievement.

QUANTITATIVE SCORES

The table on page 10 shows the relationship of fall semester grades in 1965-66 to the scores on the quantitative portion of the SCAT entrance placement test given to all freshmen. Approximately 30 percent of the student's in the top three stanines on the quantitative test earned unsatisfactory grades.

A comparison study of student characteristics of the achieving and non-achieving students earning high scores on the quantitative portion of the SCAT placement test may help to work out programs which would help the academically talented students who do unsatisfactory work. Similar studies in the other stanine ranges may help to locate and save the potential dropouts.

ENGLISH PLACEMENT STUDY

The English Placement Study on page 11 shows that 44 percent of the students with low English placement scores do unsatisfactory work at Delta College. Studies similar to those suggested in the previous paragraphs could be made using the data presented in the English Placement Study.

GRADE POINT AVERAGE AND SEMESTER IN COLLEGE

Forty-five percent of the first semester freshmen in the fall 1965 earned unsatisfactory grades. (See table on page 12.) Only 27 to 32 percent of the sophomores earned less than a "C" average.

SEX AND THE GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Women students earn grades 10 percent higher than the men students. This differential may be explained in part by the larger number of men students enrolled; the hours worked by the men students and the nature of the courses attempted by the two groups; or by a basic difference in academic ability.

WITHDRAWALS

In the fall semester, there were 614 students who formally withdrew during the semester. The reasons for withdrawal have been tabulated on page 14. The withdrawal study shows the majors of the students who withdrew and the following information: occupational goal, high school of origin and stanines. Sixty-five percent of the students who withdrew in their first semester had verbal stanines in the mean range (5) or above. The comments recorded on pages 21-26 were made by the students who withdrew.

STUDENT SURVEY

In the fall semester, 1965, approximately 1,600 freshmen replied to the questions listed with the responses on pages 27 to 32. This study summarizes the characteristics of the freshman class of 1965, including information on the socio-economic backgrounds of the students, their objectives, aspirations and reactions to the college program. The reader's attention is directed to the following questions:

REASONS FOR ATTENDING JUNIOR COLLEGE?

Question 15, page 36, which relates to the reasons why the students chose to attend a junior college. Low cost and closeness to home were marked as important reasons for this choice.

WHEN DO STUDENTS DECIDE ON AN OCCUPATIONAL GOAL?

Question 27, page 40, indicates that 84 percent of the students decided on their life work before coming to Delta College. Over 50 percent made this decision in early high school or elementary school.

In the past, Delta College has supplied information about occupational training programs to seniors in the service area. If the students make decisions relating to occupational choice in the early years of high school, the college should provide the junior high schools with information regarding the occupational training programs at Delta College. This information would be available to the students at the time important decisions relating to their life work are made.

GRADES AND THE WORKING STUDENT

Question 28, page 41 shows that 55 percent of the students work from 6-30 hours a week. A comparison of the grades earned by the workers and non-workers may be found on page 76 of this report.

MAJOR SOURCES OF INCOME

From the table on page 42, it will be observed that support from parents and income from part-time work provide Delta College students with their major sources of income to meet college expenses. In question 31, page 43, twelve percent of the students indicated that they may have to drop college temporarily for financial reasons.

THE STUDENTS RATE THE COLLEGE

Forty-seven percent of the students rated Delta College as a very good college in Question 33, page 43; 47 percent rated Delta as only a fairly good college; however, only 5 percent of the students felt that Delta College was a rather poor college. An examination of the characteristics of the students, including major, academic ability and achievement and a comparison of these characteristics with the ratings of the college by the students may indicate the areas in which Delta College is meeting the needs of the students and the areas in which the college is failing in this regard.

FRIENDLY ASSISTANCE

Eighty percent of the students indicated in answering Question 34, page 44, that there was no one on the campus they felt particularly responsible to or who felt particularly responsible for them. Forty-four percent of the students stated they did not know a single faculty member well enough to talk to about matters unrelated to course work. In question 52, page 52, 40 percent of the students indicated that the impersonal attitude of the faculty was a problem. A study to determine a way to improve the college atmosphere so the students would feel a spirit of friendly assistance may help the potential dropout.

ART EXHIBITS

In responding to Question 41, page 46, the freshmen indicated an interest in art exhibits more than in any other campus-wide activity. In the Art Gallery at Modesto Junior College, traveling exhibits are arranged with other state and junior colleges. Because of the interest expressed in art exhibits, perhaps Delta College could work out some reciprocal art shows with other colleges.

MAIN PURPOSE OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION

College students have different ideas about the main purposes of a college education. Seventy-three percent of the freshmen in 1965 indicated they felt that the main purpose of a college education was to provide vocational training and to develop skills applicable to a career. This response is shown in Question 43, page 47.

OBJECTIVES OF THE STUDENTS

In answering the question, "How certain are you about returning to college next year?", approximately 80 percent of the students indicated they almost certainly would return. Another 13 percent stated they probably would return. Only 7 percent indicated they were uncertain about returning. Past experience has shown that only one-third of the students continue at Delta College in the fourteenth year. What more can the college do to help the students attain their objectives and aspirations. In question 51, page 51, all but 16 percent of the students indicated that they would eventually graduate from Delta College. The follow-up study of the class of 1961 shows that only 15 percent graduate on time in four semesters and approximately 5 percent at a later date.

PROBLEMS MOST OFTEN ENCOUNTERED BY STUDENTS

All but 13 percent of the freshmen felt that inadequate study habits for college work (note-taking, reading speed and writing term papers) were a problem. Thirty-eight percent felt that lack of proper study skills was a serious problem. Time spent in the various subject areas suggesting efficient methods of studying each subject may help more students to reach their academic objectives at Delta College.

OPEN-ENDED QUESTION

The responses to the following question may be found on pages 54-75 of this report: "Comment here on your opinion of San Joaquin Delta College. Include comments on course offerings, counseling, student activities and various procedures."

Being near their homes.

Teacher-to-student relations

My counselor was understanding, helpful and willing to give his time to me.

85. Comment here on your opinion of San Joaquin Delta College. Include comments on course offerings, counseling, student activities and various procedures.

The MEN TRANSFER students answered this question as follows:

O. K. for a junior college to transfer from.

The course offerings at Delta are as much as could be expected. I have decided to change my major field from business to ?? I would like to go into some kind of outdoor work (construction, forestry, etc.) As yet, I haven't been able to talk to my counselor. Student activities are pretty good. But I can't say much about counseling.

The quality of teachers at SJDC is very good. I have been able to enroll in most of the courses which are necessary for my degree. My counseling has been very good, and as of yet, I have not had the time to participate in student activities.

I like Delta although I don't participate and I'm not here very much. I find homework hard to do. The counseling is very good to me and the class offerings are adequate.

SJDC's an adequate preparatory school. The classes are good and the instructors good.

There is a wide variety of courses here, and they are, to my surprise pretty respected by state colleges. I'm satisfied.

SJDC is a great school compared to high school. They offer everything I need to transfer and the counseling is always there if needed. The student activities are plentiful and your more or less on your own.

I have only been here for a short time, but I feel it has a lot to offer. However, some of the counselors (not mine) but those who came to the high school I attended, are not very helpful. Also a couple of my instructors are terrible.

Delta College is all right, but I don't like going to afternoon classes after 3:00 p. m.

This college is good, as far as its purpose goes, there are no particular problems for a well-adjusted person, although the undecided run into problems quite frequently.

The faculty here is very good. As a junior college I don't think you could find a better one. I just have trouble in getting the courses I needed as a freshman at Cal Poly so that my transfer will be smooth.

So far, I am quite satisfied with this college. I feel it merits all necessary requirements for a good college. I feel that the courses offered are very good. The counseling is fine. I am developing a good opinion of this school.

It is a pretty good school. Good course offerings.

San Joaquin Delta College is a good college over'all. Its best purpose is to provide vocational training. I like the college because it has a lot to offer in the way of good counseling, plenty of student activities, and its problems are not that difficult to learn.

Some courses quite good. School gives high school student a chance to prepare for a four-year college.

The school is fine.

I feel that Delta College can provide a person with a good education if the person half-ways tries. I am not disappointed with it.

Delta offers a satisfactory background in courses for which I will use as my major. The faculty is as excellent as any set of teachers, for which I have been related to in the past.

This is a very nice college to attend if you personally like it.

The teachers know their courses very well and have the ability to get the subject matter across. The courses are good here but, do not fit in with my plan for Christian Education work. San Joaquin Delta provides outstanding vocational courses along other lines. (I prefer dorm life.)

It's all right, I guess.

I think it is a very good college.

Good college, good courses. A real help to both those who know and those who don't know what they want to do.

Delta is a very good college for me to attend because it offers what I want to take up. The students are very friendly and the activities are very good. The procedures are well carried out.

Nice school.

I enjoy attending, there are so many courses I would like to take that I haven't the time for.

Delta College is a good place for me to start from in an effort to reach my goal. I believe its providing me with a good background for college life.

It's a good school.

San Joaquin Delta College is fine for what it is and I can wait to go to a four-year college.

I think Delta College is basically a good college. Course offerings, counseling, student activities are very good. I think course offerings are good on the whole. (Thirty-three students answered in a similar manner.)

I think Delta College is a fine college and I am very glad I came here. It has all the courses I could possibly need.

For the most part I think this is a good school in that the courses I wish to take are available, and the counseling is all right. I only take an active interest in swimming and water polo and tend to be disinterested in other student activities.

Generally I feel SJDC serves the purpose, I seek to fulfill. This is to continue my education in Music toward my teaching credential and degree.

For my purpose it is very good.

SJDC has an excellent selection of courses and teachers. A great amount of spirit and activities is seen in most students at Delta. One problem for freshmen is the large classes and informality of the instructors.

It is a very good college for me because I don't know what I'm going to do and while I'm here I have time to explore.

I enjoy Delta College. It is interesting, and seems to always have something for the students enjoyment. It provides more of a challenge than high school. It provides an all around enjoyable atmosphere.

The school is not bad in any one of these ways. The trouble is I have to get up at 5:00 a. m. every day and come to school on the bus and this makes a long day.

No air conditioning in some classes, hence difficulty in concentrating. Parking lot should be swept clean of glass periodically. Course offerings -adequate.

Basically sound, but I sense an attitude of financial "cut corners" on the part of the administration. (i.e. poor faculty members and sub-adequate facilities.)

Not enough freedom. Treated like adolescent as far as attendance to classes are concerned. A lot of baby rules on attendance. Not enough freedom in classroom to express and retain own opinion on subject--ram-induction education type school.

In high school I was of the opinion that SJDC was merely a more advanced high school. Well it almost is just that except for the fifty minutes in class when I'm being taught by good, capable, and interesting instructors this place is Mickey Mouse.

A large high school with ash trays.

Delta offers a good variety of courses but in the short time I have been here I feel that some instructors are not very good. The counseling seems to be very good but I haven't had much contact with it outside of Introduction to College.

The student activities are well organized and varied. The campus on the whole is not good. The old buildings and shops make the college look like a factory.

High-priced cafeteria

Too crowded. Prehistoric buildings.

Disappointed with band and music facilities --the school board and administration are a bunch of cheapskates to expect us to play in barn when they want to build a new school.

I think counseling is doing a pretty good job, I also think there should be courses for Game Management and Forestry, as there is only general requirements. I don't like the thing about buying tickets for games, and mostly for dances. What are our student body cards good for?

Some standards should be set on mode of dress.

I have only one comment about Delta. Some of the instructors at this college should slow down a bit. I will grant that they are very smart, but we aren't quite as smart, yet. They expect too much from us the first semester. Not giving any names, but one teacher I have in math won't go by the book because she says her way is better. Then she doesn't explain her way. That's real smart on her behalf. They expect us to learn about something they don't teach.

Too many students attend who don't belong in college, because it is too easy to get it.

It seems like a glorified high school.

As far as I'm concerned this is a good JC. One thing it lacks is school spirit. The rallies are lousy, even though they try, they still are. I never did like them too much. I dislike the Army-type building and the location of it. But those are the breaks. No one seems to care about student government. I don't feel area representatives help one bit. The parking is scarce and "James Bond" walks around all day writing little tickets people tear up anyway. They gotta do something about that.

The counseling is very poor. Too much emphasis is put on the entrance exams and English test.

I feel that SJDC is for the most part a good school, however, it is greatly lacking in a college atmosphere.

The studying facilities offered here are very poor. The libraries are always full and few other places are made accessible.

I do not like the way in which a person has to register and get his courses.

I think as a whole it is all right except for the buildings which are very poor. (Thirty-five students answered in a similar manner.)

I find that Delta is one of the most uncollegiate institutions I've ever encountered.

Lack of communication between students and teachers.

I feel SJDC is a very adequate school of training for those who, like myself are planning to transfer to a four-year college. The difficulty I face is being able to understand the required courses for my major and general education for transfer.

In course offerings for Engineering transfer they don't have a "clear cut" schedule. It all seems to be for the technician. Otherwise all the other facilities are satisfactory especially the counseling, the counselors seem to know what they are doing.

I think Delta College needs more courses in Recreation

I feel there are not enough specialized courses. There is a good broad curriculum to choose from. The teachers are of fine quality.

There are few courses offered here in order to meet my four-year college requirements.

I do not understand the courses and requirements necessary to graduate from Delta and go on to a four-year college. The counseling seems to me to be less personal than in high school. The counselors are taking for granted that students know what they're doing when they sometimes don't. They will either make or break a student. The student activities are pretty good, but I do not know how they are in other institutions. It is a big step up from high school, though.

Course offerings are quite limited and information concerning courses are lacking.

COMMENTS WOMEN TRANSFER STUDENTS

In my opinion, Delta is an excellent junior college. There is a good variety of course offerings here in most subject areas, and the counseling is very good. I suppose there could be additional student activities, but the existing ones seem to be satisfactory for interested students. As for procedures, I really have no complaints.

I feel Delta is certainly worthwhile educationally, but I do not feel a part, nor do I want to. My teachers are excellent, course offerings are limited and have proven difficult because some colleges won't accept Delta's courses.

I was pleasantly surprised by the wide range of courses offered at SJDC as well as the quality of instructors hired to teach them. The opportunities for student activities seem to be great, and the faculty stresses independence and maturity as the goal for each student.

I think that SJDC is a pretty good college. It has good course offerings as well as counseling and student activities. (Sixty students answered in a similar manner.)

Good variation of courses for all. Counselors seem to be very willing to help out. School needs more spirit--especially for athletic games.

SJDC is an excellent example of college standards, courses and life, and it will enable one to accept the academic and social life of a four-year college before leaving the security of family living. It offers nearly all of the courses necessary for transfer.

I haven't used the counseling services a great deal, but that which I have used have been fair. The campus atmosphere and the faculty are pleasant and friendly, and the classes are really quite interesting. Delta is a great place to meet new friends and live near your home. Delta also offers a wide range of activities and clubs that are of great interest to me.

What little I know of SJDC I would say it is a fairly good JC. When I was in high school I was led to believe that it was "rinky'dink," and just like high school. Actually, it depends on the courses you take and the instructors you have. I am taking classes that are interesting, transferable, and I am quite satisfied with the quality of the teachers. Some of my friends taking other sections of the same classes from other teachers aren't quite as lucky. One teacher seems very incompetent compared to mine. I think if the teacher gives hard tests he makes you learn more.

I think the courses are very good. I don't like the atmosphere of the college that much.

San Joaquin Delta is a fine college for those students wishing to go to four-year colleges. The campus is not much to look at, but the people are friendly, the courses excellent, and the teachers and counselors willing to help.

I feel that SJDC provides an excellent number of courses for any field of interest. The courses are transferable (most of them) and Delta college provides an opportunity for those who are unsure of their vocational goal. The counseling is good and the counselors are in most of the time. As far as student activities, there seem to be many, but it is hard for me to adjust to Delta. In high school I was very active in one thing and another and it is so difficult for me to get adjusted to college life, but I am going to do my best.

I think as a junior college it is entirely satisfactory. It offers all the courses I need for transfer, and the instructors all seem fair and likeable. All colleges vary, however, it's up to the students to get what they ultimately want out of college.

I feel that the College is somewhat of a smooth running and reliable school. I feel I get the help I need by talking with my counselor. The courses offered are quite adequate for the field I plan to go in. All of the teachers seem to be friendly, and the atmosphere is average.

There are always a mixture of activities going on. I find the Career Lectures to be very helpful. In all it is a school that I can be proud in attending.

San Joaquin Delta College has much more to offer than I at first thought. The college offers courses which are taught on a level comparable to that of a state college. The counseling department is excellent.

The college meets my needs, therefore it's adequate for me. Of course, the amount of studying, and the grading standards are different. I have to re-arrange myself in order to meet the schools standards, it's a little difficult.

A necessity that is becoming more important. Offers an opportunity for college for people who for a multitude of reasons might be unable to attend. A fine community effort.

SJDC is very good. It offers everything I want in the way of courses, price and location. but i'd never go here again if I had it to do over.

I feel that SJDC provides an excellent number of courses for any field of interest. The courses are transferable (most of them) and Delta College provides an opportunity for those who are unsure of their vocational goal. The counseling is good and the counselors are in most of the time. As far as student activities, there seem to be many, but it is hard for me to adjust to Delta. In high school I was very active in one thing as another and it is so difficult for me to get adjusted to college life and expectations. But I am going to do my best.

I am very proud and happy to be attending Delta College and plan to make the most of the opportunity. I find the programming of lectures stimulating and just learning again a real incentive.

All the courses that I want to take this year are offered at Delta. My counselor, has always been very helpful in matters I needed help with. Student activities are usually pretty good--(dances become a bit warm). The various clubs are good, I enjoy the ones I have attended. The lecture series seems pretty good this year.

For various proceedings I don't find things much different from high school--except we are on our own.

The College really isn't as bad as the students, on the whole, make it out to be. The faculty, at least, my teachers, seem to be good. The school activities are many, but the school doesn't have much co-operation in carrying them out, with the school's or students' spirit. I really think the atmosphere at Delta is awful and this influences the students a great deal.

It has a mood of independence which I like.

I believe the courses and instructors are of a high standard, but I don't believe the school itself measures up to these. I have gotten the general attitude and atmosphere of not being a part of the school and not wanting to take a part in the activities I think these attitudes should be improved in some way in order for the students to feel more of an association with the school. As it is the atmosphere is very poor.

What can you expect for nothing?

I do n't feel that the courses are as difficult as college courses are expected to be.

The counselors sometimes give me a feeling that they are not sure what I should be taking. When I go to a counselor I want their advice and opinion. Not for them to make me feel stupid.

More time and space needed for counseling

It was a big disappointment from where I was previously. I really had no choice because my parents moved to Stockton.

College facilities and faculty very satisfactory curriculum is fine. I do find it somewhat disconcerting that some of the students take this as being unimportant to their life. But it is no problem--the average student is far below what one would expect to find in a university (maturity)

I like all of the different course offerings. If I lived closer by I would participate in more student activities. The dress regulations for girls could be more informal. There should be more courses in dramatics and speech.

The courses offered are quite adequate for the understanding of the subject matter, but there are too few advanced language courses offered. The counseling is helpful and fairly easy to receive. Advertising of student outside activities is rather vague, but for those interested in certain activity information can be obtained. Members of the faculty overload the students to a point where they can not maintain good grades and participate in social activities also.

Introduction to College class is very helpful.

If you want to go to a junior college for preparation for a four-year college Delta is a good place for this purpose.

I am very pleased with Delta College and I strongly recommend attending a junior college for everyone.

This is only my first semester here and I have had no serious problems yet. However, I would like to be able to take more classes, but there is not sufficient time for these classes. I find that most of the classes are harder, I don't mind working harder because I know that it is helping me. I have been working so much harder on my studies that I really haven't had time or interest to attend any of the social activities. I was quite surprised about the number of dances held here.

SJDC offers an adequate number of courses. The counseling is extremely good. The campus has a friendly attitude, and life here goes by quite pleasantly.

Quite good on a whole for a junior college. The teachers and counselors seem quite co-operative.

Should be on a higher college level. This is just like a high school. It is hard to prepare students for a transfer this way.

SJDC could have a tremendous academic level if its teachers weren't limited by the administration. Its course offerings are good, but the limit put on the courses keeps them from being rated excellent in regards to what it taught in the courses.

I personally do not like the campus atmosphere at SJDC. There is no beauty in the campus which makes it very hard to take pride in it.

The morning bulletin is usually not read--too many students do not know what is 'going on' on campus.

I like Delta. There are very few things which disturb me. One main one is that I would have taken part in more activities, clubs, etc. had I known more about them. I believe the school should help the clubs a little more in getting out to the students. Maybe by giving the student a list of the clubs which go with his major and minors and asking them if there are others he would like to know about.

In consideration that Delta is a two-year college I think it meets my present requirements quite adequately. I do feel that when first meeting counselors while still in our senior year we might be treated with a little more respect. I understand that there are thousands of students that must be interviewed in a short period of time as these counselors, who come to the high schools in late spring, are our first impressions of what it's going to be like at Delta, they should not give the feeling of looking down on us. Fortunately, I did not get the same counselor I had at this first meeting. Outside of this Delta is fine.

Need more guiding and help to transfer.

I feel that SJDC's library is inadequate for the number of students enrolled. This problem wouldn't be so great if students weren't required to use only this library.

Classes are too large SJDC is too much like a high school. The counseling program is great as are the academic standards set by Delta.

I'm going to this college only because I thought I could make up a subject requirement and then be admitted to Davis. I now find out that this won't work and so I want to leave Delta as soon as possible.

For the field I am going into, and for the required courses needed to transfer, I feel that this college is very adequate to handle these courses. To enable more students to participate in extra-curricular activities, I feel that the club meetings should be held during school time--at the 11:00 break or something. It is hard for out-of-town students to attend the scheduled night meetings. As far as counseling goes I feel that more time should be spent going over the occupational interests tests to find out if one is suited for the occupation he is planning to enter. Also, I feel that the counselors should help the students look up the required or transferable courses needed for the college one is to transfer to. Another "pet peeve" is that students should be allowed to take as many units as they wish--no restriction on units should be given.

To me Delta College is a stepping stone where I can get my required courses out of the way while earning money for another two years of college. The courses are sufficient in my case.

It seems to be a fine college for those interested in vocational training or those who are uncertain of their major, or simply want to broaden their intellectual scope. However, for one definitely headed toward a profession, it wastes valuable time.

COMMENTS OF MEN TERMINAL STUDENTS

SJDC is a very good junior college for the person who is planning to transfer after one or two years. Junior college better prepares the students for a four-year college. The courses are those which a person can take to transfer.

SJDC seems to have many different courses open in many fields. The counseling is excellent, and there are plenty of opportunities for student activities.

I guess this school is all right.

It is a fairly nice college. I enjoy going here. No as much as I thought I would, but its O. K.

Very good and helpful.

I think Delta College is a fine college, and the courses offered here are as good as any other junior college.

It is a very nice college as far as I'm concerned but it would be better if the school department would help you get a job after you receive your A. A. degree for a sure job without too much worry.

I think Delta has an excellent course in criminology.

SJDC is a good school and satisfies all my needs. I have no complaints and the counseling is excellent.

I think Delta College has good course offerings for business. Their counseling is very good also. Student activities are widely spread which is a good idea.

The school has offered the courses that I wanted to take. Delta also offers a wide variety of student activities. The counseling has been up to par.

I like SJDC as a whole. There are a good variety of courses. The teachers are easy to get along with as well as the students at the school.

Good course offerings, good counseling and there are lots of student activities.

It is a very good college. But I can't seem to find all the business courses I would like to take. The Data Processing Lab is very good and it has a wonderful staff to teach us about the machines.

Satisfied with the college. Courses, and teaching, counseling are quite adequate for my plans.

I feel Delta has the courses that I need and want to take to further my education. They have a very well-adjusted counseling program and the faculty is very good. I wouldn't go elsewhere.

Delta offers a good background for nearly every field. I think it prepares a student for life and further college education.

The courses offered are fine but they keep stressing the same things. All in all this is a very good school with the exception of a few teachers.

The courses are well planned but are a little hard to understand at times. The counseling system is quite adequate. The student activities are well presented and very good.

This college is very adequate for my major, which is Data Processing.

I think it is a very good college. There are many various courses which are offered that can help anyone further their education.

Very good--the courses are interesting. The counseling is so much better than in high school.

Delta College gives everything which is needed for almost everyone to get a good job or to further extend their education. It is an excellent school.

I enjoyed attending this college. The college offers the exact courses I need for my major. There is one area in which I find fault, and that is the absence of school spirit I was used to in high school. Many students seem to take no interest in their school activities and rallies.

The college is very good for general education and majors of certain kinds. The counselors are also willing to help you with problems.

I like the college because the atmosphere is so different from high school. I enjoy my classes here much more also.

Excellent college--I like the police science courses very much and plan to stay with them until graduation.

A very good educational institution, it has all that one needs for a general education, and proper credits for transfer.

So far it is pretty good.

The price is right.

So far O. K.

It is a very good school and I am glad that I am attending.

I feel that the ability of this school to turn out a well-educated person is very under-rated in this community.

Delta College puts out a good program of classes. The student activities are good and there are plenty of them.

The only bad thing is the campus; it looks like a concentration camp.

This is a good college, but it seems like I am being pushed quite a bit. This is what makes me and my friends want to quit.

There's nothing wrong with SJDC that a new campus won't cure.

Delta has the best staff and offers the best line of courses out of all the local JC's I have seen. The counseling and government and student activities are the best I have ever seen.

I think San Joaquin Delta College is a good place to further ready yourself to go to a four-year college.

The school is a very good and I am happy with the way things are going. Courses are a lot harder to get good grades than I expected. Not enough students participate in activities.

I enjoy Delta College and I am very satisfied here. (Fifty-eight students answered in a similar manner.)

I think Delta College is extremely well set up. The course offerings, counseling, student activities and so on are all of the highest standard.

I feel that I am getting all that can be expected from a JC. This school offers all of the classes I want, and there is enough social life around if I want it.

Enjoy Delta College very much. Courses offered are very helpful.

For my major, Delta has everything necessary to enable me to go on to a four-year college.

The atmosphere is impersonal. Nothing wrong with that, thus it shows the student he must rely upon himself to get the work done that's necessary. The courses are adequate in number and quality. The student activities are unusually numerous.

I like it. Good for a guy not certain what he wants to be. A place to find one's self and then with a definite goal to go on to better things.

The college is too overloaded in the shops. Such as automechanics, body and fender and auto electrics. Should be expanded.

To be short and to the point. Over populated, non-college atmosphere, too many goof-offs.

I wish they had more training for students who would like to fly or obtain flying licenses in the future. I want to be a co-pilot either for Civil or Armed Forces aviation.

Delta College needs more of a forestry program.

In my opinion some of the teachers in the English department do not even know or state fundamentals of grammar. They are vague and how can a student know for sure what is right and what is wrong. Also, some of the things that are constantly brought up in speech class are too much. I am all for academic freedom, but for students and teachers to ridicule another person's beliefs or ideals is something that has no place in an educational institution where the prime idea is to hear more than one side of an idea and to learn to accept the facts that others have. Laughter at another's beliefs is a sign of ignorance and it's something I have found hard to tolerate.

To me, SJDC is simply a place where one goes after he or she has completed high school but are unable to go to the college or school desired or for those who are bored at home with nothing to do so they enroll at a place that keeps them in the practice or habit of studying. Otherwise, I think that for all majors with the exception of nurses or doctors it is a complete waste of time to go to this college.

The only thing I don't like is that the students stay with their own group and are not out to meet new friends.

The courses offered are excellent and the counseling is there if we take advantage of it. One gets out of Delta only as much as he puts in it.

Delta offers no challenge.

It is a good junior college, but there just too many students. You can't have the courses you want when you need them.

Although the student activities are not as open to all as I would like to see. The same people are in charge of these activities all the time.

I like Delta quite a lot. I am much happier here than I ever was in high school. But Delta doesn't have the courses to give me the training I need to become a legal secretary.

I feel they could offer a dental assistant course, otherwise, I enjoyed Delta very much.

San Joaquin Delta College appears to be completely unorganized; not only in the physical layout of the campus, but in the courses offered. On the whole I can say that Delta is worthwhile to the student who is definitely not interested in the glamour of college life.

I like SJDC. It is a good school. The only bad thing is that one has to wait in line for so many things that is no major problem though.

In my estimation, Delta offers the courses needed in many fields. As far as I can see, it is quite adequate.

In my opinion Delta College is a very well-rounded college. The course offerings are very good. The wide variety of students activities makes it enjoyable to go here.

San Joaquin Delta is a good school and it has all the courses I need for my major. It is a well run school and students have quite a bit of freedom.

San Joaquin Delta College offers very good courses and the counselors are always ready to help. There are very many student activities you may attend if you wish. I find the students very friendly.

This is a good Junior College. I wish many could come here for a start. I feel that this college would help them out a great deal. The accreditation is good and a pretty good curriculum.

I think Delta College offers the best opportunities in the different courses that it has. Counseling is good. There are a lot of student activities that a person can belong to or attend.

As a whole I feel that this is a good school. I feel I will accomplish much out of my courses. The counseling is very good. I haven't heard much of the student activities but that is probably my own fault.

COMMENTS OF WOMEN TERMINAL STUDENTS

I feel Delta has the courses that I need and want to take to further my education. They have a very well-adjusted counseling program and faculty is very good. I wouldn't go elsewhere.

Delta offers a good background for nearly every field. I think it prepares a student for life and further college education.

The courses offered are fine, but they keep stressing the same things. All in all this is a very good school with the exception of a few teachers.

The courses are well planned but are a little hard to understand at times. The counseling system is quite adequate. The student activities are well presented and very good.

This college is very adequate for my major, which is data processing.

I think it is a very good college. There are many various courses which are offered that can help anyone further their education.

Very good - the courses are interesting. The counseling is so much better than in high school.

Delta College gives everything which is needed for almost everyone to get a good job or to further extend their education. It is an excellent school.

I enjoyed attending this college. The college offers the exact courses I need for my major. There is one area in which I find fault and that is the absence of school spirit I was used to in college. Many students seem to take no interest in their school activities and rallies.

Dances are no good, need to be much better. Need to leave record player in cafeteria where it was at first.

I have but one complaint, and that is - the office workers (not all, but a few) in the Registrar's Office are quite aggravating. Their dispositions could be vastly improved.

They should check-up teaching methods of some of the teachers.

I feel SJDC is a good junior college for myself and many others because it has many courses to offer. I haven't been counseled yet, so I really don't know how it is. I am happy attending this junior college.

Feel that curriculum is excellent for trade or skilled occupations. Gives good background for four-year college. Counseling is better than high school--student activities are limited as compared with high school.

I like the college because the atmosphere is so different from high school. I enjoy my classes here much more also.
